

Federal Perkins Loan Program

December 2011

What is the Federal Perkins Loan Program?	The Federal Perkins Loan Program, formerly called the National Defense Student Loan Program, was authorized under the National Education Act (1958). It is America's oldest federally subsidized student loan initiative. The program is named after Carl Perkins, a former delegate to the House of Representatives from West Virginia who also served as chairperson of the House Education Workforce Committee. Approximately 2,000 colleges and universities offer Perkins Loans.
How does a teacher benefit from participating in the Perkins Loan Program?	A percentage of a teacher's student loan will be cancelled for every year of teaching in a "low income" school. To determine if a place of employment is classified as a "low income" school, consult the U.S. Department of Education's website at http://www.ed.gov/offices/OSFAP/Students/repayment/teachers/perkins.html. The site lists places of employment that are currently classified as "low income" schools.
What are the requirements for eligibility?	There are three ways to qualify for eligibility: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> The borrower received a Perkins Loan on or after July 1, 1987, and teaches full time at a designated "low income" school. This "low income" school must be located within a school district that is currently receiving federal funds under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) of 1965. The school must have more than 30% of its students in the Free or Reduced Price Meals (FARMS) program. <input type="checkbox"/> The borrower received a Perkins Loan on or after July 23, 1992, and teaches a subject in which there is a statewide shortage of instructors as identified by the Maryland State Department of Education. Subjects identified for school years 2009-2010 and 2010-2011 are: Bilingual Education and English Language Acquisition, Foreign Language, Mathematics, Reading Specialist, Science, and Special Education. <input type="checkbox"/> The borrower received a Perkins Loan on or after July 1, 1987, and teaches disabled students at a public or private elementary or secondary school or the borrower provides services that are part of the educational curriculum for handicapped children. The educationally related services are: speech and language pathology and audiology, physical therapy, occupational therapy, psychological and counseling services, and recreational therapy.
What is the loan cancellation rate for a teacher who qualifies?	The following applies to a teacher who meets the eligibility requirements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 15% of the loan cancelled after completing the first year of teaching • 15% of the loan cancelled after completing the second year of teaching • 20% of the loan cancelled after completing the third year of teaching • 20% of the loan cancelled after completing the fourth year of teaching • 30% of the loan cancelled after completing the fifth year of teaching.
