SUBJECT: COMAR 13A.05.09.02 (ADOPTION)
Programs for Homeless Children

PURPOSE:

To request adoption of COMAR 13A.05.09.02, Programs for Homeless Children.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND:

The McKinney-Vento Act of 2002 addresses the educational rights of homeless children/youth. The Act includes provisions for homeless children/youth to stay in their home school (school of origin) to ensure school stability if it is deemed to be in the child's best interest.

The McKinney-Vento Act is implemented in State regulations, COMAR 13A.05.09.01 - .07. Pursuant to COMAR 13A.05.09.02B(4), a "homeless student" includes a "child awaiting foster care placement." Currently, COMAR 13A.05.09.02B(2) only recognizes certain children committed to the care and custody of the Department of Social Services as a "child awaiting foster care placement". Yet the Juvenile Court also commits children to the care and custody of the Department of Juvenile Services (DJS) for placement in foster care homes and facilities. Such commitments do not include children in secure facilities. Presently, children and youth committed to DJS who are placed in foster care homes and facilities are not entitled to the same McKinney-Vento school stability provisions as children under the care and custody of DSS who are placed in foster homes or facilities.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:

The proposed amendment adds some children in the custody of the DJS to the definition of "child awaiting foster care placement" so that those children would be considered homeless students under COMAR 13A.05.09.02B(4). As such, these children/youths will be entitled to the same school stability provisions set forth in the McKinney-Vento Act as other homeless students.

The proposed amendment was published in the Maryland Register, Volume 39, Issue 13, on Friday, June 29, 2012. (ATTACHMENT). No comments were received during the public comment period.
